This program is continuing to receive close supervision and emphasis in the Chicago Division, and Chicago is continuing to be most circumspect in the selection of candidates for interview in order to insure that the best possible results may emanate from any cooperative subject.

All agents working Security cases in the Chicago Division are kept constantly aware of the Toplev Program and the need for likely candidates for interview. All agents in this office are on the alert for any potentials for this program.

[redacted] has advised that [redacted] has become emotionally upset since hearing of the action taken by the SACB requiring leading CP figures in Northern California to register. As a result, [redacted] has become very evasive, has been seeing FBI Agents behind every individual who wears a coat, and goes out of his way in order to avoid being in a geographical area where he might be compromised.

b7D

During the past three weeks [redacted] has been observed on the streets in [redacted] California, and Agents have made an attempt to approach him; however, [redacted] upon seeing the Agents turns in the opposite direction or immediately returns to his car and drives away.

Within the last two weeks an attempt was made to locate [redacted] at his home. Agents did not identify themselves and the door was answered by [redacted] Agents requested to speak to Mr. or Mrs. [redacted] then interrogated the Agents as to what they wanted, who they were, and ended the conversation by stating he would not advise his parents of the request to see them unless all his questions were answered. As Agents departed they indicated that they could not sell their products if they had to be confronted with individuals who requested so much background prior to contacting the individual who would make the purchase.

In addition, consider approaching [redacted] on the basis that you desire to discuss a matter of mutual interest concerning her activities. Do not request her cooperation immediately but merely attempt to have her discuss her own background, affiliation and sympathies and, in the event she is receptive, still refrain from requesting her cooperation during the initial contact. It has been observed that in many cases more progress is made by confining discussion to the subject's own personal situation and, until a firm relationship has been established with the subject, the matter of cooperation is relegated to the background. In addition, subjects such as [redacted] know without being told the primary purpose of the contact is to enlist her cooperation and discussion along that line is not necessary in the first instance.

Reurlets 5-29-62.

Authority is granted to recontact [redacted] whenever feasible in accordance with outstanding instructions under the Toplev Program.

Your attention is directed to Bulet dated 12-14-60, to Baltimore and all Toplev offices, setting forth certain suggestions to be considered in preparing for Toplev interviews. Before making your approach to the subject, carefully analyze her background and consider utilizing one or more of the suggestions in Bulet of 12-14-60 in making your contact with her. In addition, consider approaching [redacted] on the basis that you desire to discuss a matter of mutual interest concerning her activities. Do not request her cooperation immediately but merely attempt to have her discuss her own background, affiliation and sympathies and, in the event she is receptive, still refrain from requesting her cooperation during the initial contact. It has been observed that in many cases more progress is made by confining discussion to the subject's own personal situation and, until a firm relationship has been established with the subject, the matter of cooperation is relegated to the background. In addition, subjects such as [redacted] know without being told the primary purpose of the contact is to enlist her cooperation and discussion along that line is not necessary in the first instance.

personnel responsible. The regulations which have been established for interviews of this type were devised in an effort to minimize the risks and dangers involved in making approaches to thoroughly indoctrinated communists. The regulations are to protect Bureau personnel and should be meticulously followed in all cases. Great stress has been placed under the Program on the need to thoroughly review the subject's background before making any actual contact so that the approach will be made under secure conditions to take advantage of any weaknesses of the individual and to minimize any risks. The unauthorized approach on 5-7-62 did not result in any embarrassment but you should make certain that Bureau instructions are not ignored and afford this Program your personal attention to be certain supervisory personnel and Agents are completely aware of their responsibilities under the Program.

This case, which is supervised by Field Supervisor JULIAN R. WALTERS, was assigned to SA WAYNE H. DRAKE for purposes of handling a Toplev interview with [ ]. As reflected in Chicago letter of 5/14/62, [ ] was contacted by SAs DRAKE and [ ] on 5/7/62. Both DRAKE and [ ] have been approved by the Bureau to conduct Toplev interviews because of their success in the past in developing informants.

The facts surrounding the contacting of [ ] without prior Bureau authority have been thoroughly discussed with Agents WALTERS, DRAKE and [ ] and it was determined that the contact with this individual without Bureau authorization was through inadvertence. The rules governing Toplev interviews have again been thoroughly discussed with these agents and I have severely admonished these agents for violating the Bureau's rules in regards to this interview. On July 24, 1962, a plan was established by SA's ROBERT E. KATERS and [REDACTED] in the vicinity of [REDACTED] and on July 24, subject's car, a Lincoln Continental, Ohio license [REDACTED] was observed parked in the driveway in the front of the property. Agents rang the bell at the door leading to subject's apartment, and subject answered the door promptly. Agents introduced themselves and subject confirmed his own identity. His manner was at first somewhat apprehensive and antagonistic. The agents referred to [REDACTED] many years of activity in the Communist Party and to the previous interview with him in 1953, and pointed out that many persons who had been active on behalf of the Communist Party, had found reason to leave the Party, and suggested that he might have considered doing likewise and would like to discuss his status with the Communist Party. Subject's manner became more assured and he replied, "There is nothing to discuss."

b7C
b7D

When it was suggested to him that freedom of discussion does not exist in Communist countries, he replied that that was a matter of opinion, and repeated that there was nothing he would care to discuss with the agents. Subject was urged to reconsider his position and to give serious consideration as to whether he was at his advantage to continue to serve the interests of the Communist Party. He declined however to expressly say, either to discuss his activities in the Communist Party, and repeatedly stated there was nothing to discuss. The interview was terminated after approximately five minutes of conversation during which subject tacitly admitted his continued adherence to the Communist Party.

EVALUATION OF INTERVIEW

In view of subject's adamant refusal to engage in a discussion, it does not appear that any further contact with him should be made in the immediate future. Results of the current contact with subject will be included in a current report in subject's case.

SECURITY MATTER - C

Reurlet 7-19-62.

Authority is granted to contact [REDACTED] whenever feasible in accordance with outstanding instructions relating to the Toplev Program.

Your attention is directed to Bulet dated 12-14-60, to Baltimore and all Toplev offices, setting forth certain suggestions to be considered in preparing for Toplev interviews. Before making your approach to the subject, carefully analyze his background and consider utilizing one or more of the suggestions in Bulet of 12-14-60 in making your contact with him. In addition, consider approaching [REDACTED] on the basis that you desire to discuss a matter of mutual interest concerning his activities. Do not request his cooperation immediately but merely attempt to have him discuss his own background, affiliation and sympathies and, in the event he is receptive, still refrain from requesting his cooperation during the initial contact. It has been observed that in many cases more progress is made by confining discussion to the subject's own personal situation and, until a firm relationship has been established with the subject, the matter of cooperation is relegated to the background. In addition, subjects such as [REDACTED] know without being told the primary purpose of the contact is to enlist his cooperation and discussion along that line is not necessary in the first instance.

If this interview is not conducted within 45 days, follow instructions contained in Section 87 D (7) (e) XII, Manual of Instructions.

Subject stated "Well you realize I have principles which I must live by. If you men were Catholics (referring to CIA), you certainly would not speak out against Catholicism." At this point subject was forcefully reminded of the freedom of religion as guaranteed by the Constitution and that such a comparison between Catholicism and the CP could not be possibly made. Agents suggested a comparison between the Mafia and the CP. Both illegal operations could so be discussed. Subject at this suggestion looked surprised and attempted to change the conversation. Subject, after a short pause, continued and stated, "But you know some people suggest we talk to you (referring to FBI) and others suggest we do not speak. I have decided to talk to you. I like to talk to you. You are both fine gentlemen and as such I will talk."

At this point, Agents suggested retiring to a nearby restaurant for the sake of comfort and ease. Subject declined the invitation, stating that he would have to move along and tend to some business. A request was made for an appointment in the near future, but subject refused to make such an appointment. Subject was advised that he would again be contacted in the near future and attempts made to solve mutual problems. At this point the interview ended on a friendly note.

During the interview, subject appeared very friendly, talkative and well at ease. He will be recontacted within 30 days.

Alluding to their last contact on 6/26/62, when he had "chanced" to meet her while engaged in a "criminal investigation," SA [redacted] asked quickly, "Say, when you said last time that you couldn't help me in criminal matters did you mean you could and would help in other matters? Security matters?"

[redacted] smiled and answered, "Oh, no."

She appeared in a hurry and had had a rather lengthy conversation with an unidentified female companion on the way to [redacted] so SA [redacted] let this become "chance" meeting and with the casual question and answer. The objective had been to break the ice only, and apparently the approach had succeeded for she was more friendly than usual.

EVALUATION

The questions and answers on 6/26 and 7/18/62, were really an approach designed by SAs [redacted] and HALLERON, an attempt to break the ice which accompanied contact with the subject. She did appear more at ease and more friendly during these contacts.

She will be recontacted in 30 days. It was the feeling of the contacting agents that another, sooner, contact would make the friendly approach appear as just that to the subject, an approach. By leaving a reasonable length of time between the 7/18/62 contact and the next contact, it is hoped that the subject will be impressed with the quiet, easy, confidential relationship that the Special Agents are seeking to establish and become more cooperative.

Re NY letter 7/17/62.

Efforts to locate subject at her employment and residence under TOPLER conditions were unsuccessful.

A pretext telephone call was made by SA JAMES P. MILLER on 7/10/62 in the guise of a friend to subject's residence, revealed from an unknown male that subject is presently on vacation and will not return until late September, 1962.

No further effort to contact the subject are being considered at this time.

 INTERNAL SECURITY - C

Chicago has requested authority to interview [redacted] a member of the [redacted] Communist Party, USA (CPUSA), and of the Illinois State Communist Party (CP) [redacted] under the Toplev Program. The Department has indicated an interest in proceeding against [redacted] under the Internal Security Act of 1950, but because of lack of evidence of CP activity since 12-20-61 no positive action has been taken. Interview with [redacted] with authority to pay him up to $500 at the initial or an early contact is requested.

BACKGROUND:

[redacted] a college graduate, has been active in the CP since the 1930's. From 1946 until 1950 he was the [redacted] From 1951 until 1955 he operated in a [redacted] the CP of Indiana. An attempt was made to interview him in January, 1955, but he refused to engage in conversation with the Agents. [redacted] was arrested for violation of the Smith Act of 1940 on [redacted] but the indictment was dismissed at the request of the Government on [redacted] In December, 1959, [redacted] was elected to the [redacted] CPUSA. Until January, 1962, he continued in the position of [redacted] the CP of Indiana. He is currently a member of the CP of Illinois and the Illinois [redacted] He is also the [redacted] the CPUSA.

OBSERVATIONS:

[redacted] was removed as [redacted] the Indiana CP by [redacted] CPUSA, in January, 1962. This act which amounted to a demotion was based upon [redacted] failure to carry out an effective program of activity within the Indiana CP for over a year. Since January, 1962, although specifically instructed to undertake certain activities in connection with CP members in the [redacted] has not met with these individuals nor has he attended meetings of the Illinois State CP [redacted]. On two occasions this year when approached to attend CP meetings, he utilized the excuse of security as the basis for not attending.

The Chicago Office believes [redacted] is "ripe" for an approach at this time to explore his reactions with the hope he can be persuaded to consent to additional interviews. There have been indications that [redacted] has some concern regarding his finances, and Chicago has recommended the interviewing Agent be in a position to offer [redacted] a sizable sum of money.

In view of [redacted] inactivity, his concern as to finances and his recent separation from his wife, it is believed he should be interviewed as soon as possible. In the event he is cooperative his years of experience as a [redacted] CP [redacted] will make him an exceptional informant or source. It is believed the interviewing Agent should be in a position to use money as an immediate "wedge" if circumstances should indicate a cash offer at an early contact is advisable.

[REDACTED]

Although the Department has expressed an interest in proceeding against [REDACTED] under the Internal Security Act of 1950, there is not sufficient evidence at this time to warrant prosecution and in view of his inactivity, it is unlikely suitable evidence will be established in the near future. It is not feasible to advise the Department of our intention to interview [REDACTED] for if he were cooperative, it would be a simple matter for the Department to surmise our plans to develop him as a high-level security informant.

ACTION:

Attached letter to Chicago authorizes the toplev interview of [REDACTED] and approves a payment of up to $500 in the event such payment is feasible to obtain his cooperation.

(7) Social Justice: The concept of social justice is a moral principle that advocates for the fair and equitable distribution of resources, opportunities, and rights within a society. It is a foundational concept in social and political philosophy, often associated with the work of John Rawls and other thinkers. Social justice seeks to address systemic inequalities and ensure that all individuals have access to the same opportunities and resources, regardless of their social or economic status. This principle is central to many social movements and policies aimed at reducing poverty, improving education, and promoting equality.

Subject was recruited into the CP in 1943, and he immediately called the Cleveland Office and wrote to the Attorney General to protest the investigation of his activities.

He attended a CP Ohio State [redacted] and was a member of the CP [redacted] in the same year. In 1947 he was the [redacted] the CP, and was described as a "whirlwind" in obtaining subscriptions to "The Worker." He worked full time for the [redacted] in Ohio in 1947 and 1948, and in 1949 pledged a week's wages to the CP fund. In later years he has been active in many phases of the Communist movement, and has participated in the activities of the [redacted]

In 1950 he was reportedly transferred to the [redacted] the CP, and in April, 1961, a meeting of the [redacted] the CP was held in his home, during which he sat in the dining room where he could hear all that transpired during the meeting, which was held in the living room, and was attended by his wife.

During 1961 and 1962 he has been extremely active in the [redacted] JACK KLINE of the "Morning Herald," and is currently a member of the CP. On June 11, 1962, [redacted] was held at subject's residence to plan a later CP meeting and, in view of recent testimony before the HCUA, there was considerable speculative discussion as to the identity of possible informants in the CP.

[redacted] presently resides alone at [redacted] N.J., and is unemployed. He appears to be in good health. Persons close to [redacted] in his early years have described him as being [redacted]. This information would appear to be refuted by the fact that he has attended high school, preparatory school, and has spent a short while in [redacted]. In addition, he is regarded by former co-workers as a [redacted].

II. CP ACTIVITIES:

[redacted] attended the National CP Youth Conference in Chicago, Illinois, on 11/14 - 15/59, where he reported on the status of CP [redacted] in N.J. He was present at sessions of the State Convention of the New Jersey CP held on 11/29/59 and 1/17/60, [redacted] the CP National Youth Conference.

CG 5824-S* has known [redacted] for over 30 years. The former wives of CG 5824-S* and [redacted] and visited together frequently. A Party connection existed because [redacted] from the early 1930s to approximately 1940 was a Party member and [redacted] the wife of [redacted] was a sister of [redacted] wife. The informant therefore frequently met [redacted] socially and otherwise at the [redacted] residence.

It is noted that [redacted] a number of years ago divorced [redacted] and her exact Party status at the present time is not known. [redacted] reportedly has not been in the CP for many years although in the late 1940s he was known to have run a Party business with [redacted] NY 694-S* and subsequent to that time he continued a [redacted] association with CG 5824-S*.

Within the past several years CG 5824-S* has been confronted with many problems in connection with his covert assignment for the CP. Among these problems has been the problem of guaranteeing security for [redacted] who is desired to be in the Chicago area covertly. [redacted] has relied on CG 5824-S* to guarantee him such protection. This has always been a problem for CG 5824-S* as the circle of potentials he could draw from has always been extremely limited. Among those whom he discussed and considered was [redacted] primarily because it was possible to indicate to [redacted] the marital connection between [redacted] and secondly because [redacted] has had some knowledge of [redacted] Party association many years ago and of his otherwise confidential relations with NY 694-S*.

b7D

Accordingly, CG 5824-S* discreetly presented his problem to [redacted] initially and asked him as a personal favor to make his [redacted] since that time at the request of CG 5824-S* has made [redacted] available. He has also, on personal request of CG 5824-S*, driven cars for CG 5824-S* and [redacted] at times when CG 5824-S* put it on the basis to [redacted] that he himself was physically unable to drive for [redacted] according to the informant, has from time to time indicated a lack of belief in the communist ideology at the present time and has also been critical of [redacted] personally. The informant other than to express an opinion that [redacted] was doing these things for him as a personal favor is unable to totally explain why [redacted] might be cooperating with him to the extent in which he is as regards to [redacted]

[redacted]

Initially he had indicated that it was his opinion that [redacted] might be possibly working for the FBI. Secondly the informant speculated that [redacted] might have a mercenary reason for cooperating with the informant, knowing that the informant is powerful in the communist movement and might be in a position to help him on his business in a financial way as he and his brother have done in the past.

The informant from time to time has felt that [redacted] is not ideologically with the Party, basing it in part upon his criticism of [redacted] and of communism in general. in personal discussions with CG 5824-S*. He also recalled that [redacted] has been worried that [redacted] a student at the [redacted] might become involved in communism because of an association between him and [redacted] son. He has indicated to the informant that for this reason he was pulling [redacted] and was going to enroll him in a university where communism was unknown.

The above background is being presented to the Bureau as evidence of the complexity for any decision relative to a possible interview of [redacted] to develop him as a PSI. As indicated above, [redacted] is CG 5824-S* and the question of [redacted] immediately becomes an issue during any interview. Further, [redacted] has fear of public exposure and possibly prosecution. This was evidenced in a recent trip to the Milwaukee territory with [redacted] and CG 5824-S*, at which time [redacted] thought he became aware of a physical surveillance and immediately refused to drive the car and threatened to cut off any future use of him by CG 5824-S* in hiding [redacted] or in otherwise becoming involved with [redacted] or the Party.

b7C
b7D

b7D

[redacted]

The question of what would happen if the interview with [redacted] was unsuccessful as it relates to use by CG 5824-S* of [redacted] becomes an issue. Should [redacted] report such an interview back to CG 5824-S* or [redacted] could immediately accuse CG 5824-S* of not providing him with security and also might raise the question of a failure by CG 5824-S* to provide him with security. He might even raise the question or speculate on the question of, if the FBI knew of [redacted] how much does it know of the activities of CG 5824-S*.

b7D

Based upon the complexities of such a contemplated interview and because it directly relates to Solo and to CG 5824-S* and his future operations at a high level with the Bureau, it is recommended that the Bureau authorize Chicago to discuss the question of the advisability of an interview of [redacted] with CG 5824-S* so that all the ramifications of such an interview can be thoroughly discussed and evaluated.

Upon receipt of the views of CG 5824-S* and the evaluation by the Bureau of his views, Chicago would then make a recommendation as to the advisability of interviewing [redacted] at this time. It is pointed out that should [redacted] be cooperative, it is possible that ultimately he could be developed into some apparatus phases of the Solo operation.

Re Los Angeles letter to Bureau 4/19/62.

Careful consideration has been given to interviewing [redacted] under the Toplev Program. However, it is felt that an interview at this time might jeopardize the informant status or the advancement within the CP of [redacted].

b6
b7C
b7D

This informant maintains close contact with [redacted] who continues to be the [redacted] Southern California District Communist Party (SCDCP). Recently he has gained her confidence to such an extent that during a [redacted] held at her residence in May, 1962, the names of two new CP members were confided to him [redacted].

It is felt that if the [redacted] become aware they are being investigated and ask [redacted] who knows they are in the CP, this coupled with an interview of [redacted] at this time might put suspicion on [redacted] as the source of our information. Therefore no request is being made to interview her at this time.

A report will be submitted on [redacted] by 9/12/62 and at this time consideration will again be given to interviewing her.

This program is continuing to receive close supervision and emphasis in the Chicago Division, and Chicago is continuing to be most circumspect in the selection of candidates for interview in order to insure that the best possible results may emanate from any cooperative subject.

All agents working Security cases in the Chicago Division are kept constantly aware of the Toplev Program and the need for likely candidates for interview. All agents in this office are on the alert for any potentials for this program.

On this effort, [REDACTED] was unable to enter the subject in conversation and in this regard he was disappointed. In [REDACTED] 1 block. These efforts were unproductive since [REDACTED] refused to answer or to make further responses. The interview was terminated when the subject entered a connected subway entrance.

Although the subject did not appear hostile in that he had made no disparaging statement to the interviewing agent, he nevertheless indicated by his action and refusal to enter into conversation that he had no desire to cooperate with the Bureau at this time. In view of this, no contact is contemplated.

It is to be noted that on 3/14/62, [REDACTED] was observed, through observation, that the subject continues to reside at [REDACTED] New York, and that he is

On August 14, 1962, [redacted] was observed leaving his residence approaching his 1961 Cadillac automobile, parked a few doors away from his house.

At this point, SA JOSEPH HYBLE made the contact, with SA [redacted] securing the area and observing the contact.

Friendly greetings were exchanged, whereupon Subject stated, "Hyble, you don't give up, do you?" He was told that as long as he is cordial enough to talk to the Agent, these talks will continue until a few matters are discussed further and straightened out. Although he was friendly and receptive to small talk, he said there was nothing more to talk about. Subject remarked that he had to go to work now and entered his car. The Agent inquired whether he could phone Subject and set up a date for a get-together. Subject replied that the Agent could call him any time after around 6:30 P.M., indicating no objections to such an arrangement.

Subject will be again recontacted within the very near future and the Bureau advised of results.

Rebulet 7/12/62.

CG 5824-S* was contacted on August 7, 1962, per Bureau request in reference to determining the views and observations relating to an interview of the captioned subject and its possible ramifications as they relate to this informant.

CG 5824-S* advised that he has known [REDACTED] his family and his deceased wife intimately for possibly 25 years. CG 5824-S*'s [REDACTED] was also his deceased wife for many years--in fact, [REDACTED] was CG 5824-S*'s [REDACTED] also in 1954. The informant stated that [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] of CG 5824-S*'s wife during CG 5824-S*'s many absences from Chicago including his trips on Solo missions, particularly during CG 5824-S*'s wife's last extended illness.

Since CG 5824-S* lost his [REDACTED] over two years ago, the informant and [REDACTED] have been [REDACTED] common problems. Until CG 5824-S* remarried in May, 1962, they socialized frequently, seeing each other two or three times a week and even since CG 5824-S*'s remarriage they have been in frequent contact.

[REDACTED] discusses his most [REDACTED] and business problems with CG 5824-S*. He, [REDACTED] since the death of his wife has been relatively unsuccessful in business and [REDACTED] from time to time has made attempts to interest CG 5824-S* in his business possibly because he knows CG 5824-S*

[redacted]
[redacted] and NY 634-S* have in the past made CP [redacted] [redacted] for investment purposes in his business ventures.

Many times [redacted] has indicated a desire to remarry and of recent date [redacted] told CG 5824-S* that he had met a woman in New York in whom he had an amorous affection. b7D

CG 5824-S* stated that during the week of August 5, 1962, [redacted] had confided in him that he made up his mind that he would go to New York the week of August 5, 1962, and during his visit there intended to propose to this woman.

Informant advised that he took advantage of [redacted] going to New York and asked him as a personal favor to take [redacted] for CG 5824-S* and to deliver to her his birthday gifts which included liquid refreshments and an invitation to dinner. CG 5824-S* provided [redacted] with the gifts and the money to dine [redacted] b7D

The informant in connection with this trip told [redacted] that he should not take his bride-to-be with him since she reportedly, according to [redacted] is anti-communist although at one time [redacted] indicated she may have been on the periphery or even in the CP. [redacted] agreed to do so as a personal favor to CG 5824-S*, but told the informant that he did not wish to see [redacted] or any other CP people while in New York.

On [redacted] return to Chicago he had contact with CG 5824-S* and told him that he had proposed to the woman and she had conditionally accepted his proposal and they have tentatively agreed to be married about the first of the year. [redacted] out to dinner bringing with him his bride-to-be. He indicated that his bride-to-be was most reluctant to dine with [redacted] but did so on his behest. b7D

Regarding the bride-to-be, CG 5824-S* stated he cannot recall her name. Her first name is believed to be [redacted] and she is a divorcee who was formerly married to some [redacted] [redacted] She is currently doing [redacted] in New York and may have some means.

[redacted]

One of the conditions [redacted] bride-to-be placed on the marriage is that she be permitted to be a housewife and that [redacted] have no connections with the communist movement. She apparently based her knowledge of [redacted] possible CP connections on the fact that [redacted] and she had entertained [redacted]

b7D

[redacted] has told his bride-to-be about his [redacted] CG 5824-S* and the informant assumes that she has some knowledge of his and possibly [redacted] communist background. The informant therefore can only surmise what his relationship with [redacted] will be after [redacted] marriage. He believes he and [redacted] will [redacted]

Reverting to the matter at issue and after due consideration, CG 5824-S* stated as follows:

[redacted] has no knowledge of the informant's connection with the Bureau. In fact, he considers CG 5824-S* as a most loyal "communist." He does not believe [redacted] would respond to an approach by the Bureau nor does he believe it might be successful if he himself laid groundwork for such an approach. Informant stated that he believes the stakes are too high as they effect the over-all Solo operation and the chances for success are extremely remote, particularly since [redacted] is taking a new wife who will not permit him to assist the communist movement after marriage.

CG 5824-S* pointed out that if the Bureau approaches [redacted] he, the informant, is sure that [redacted] will report the contact to him. If such is the case, CG 5824-S* must report it to [redacted] residence in his covert visits to Chicago. If CG 5824-S* did not report to [redacted] there is always the chance that [redacted] would tell [redacted] and then CG 5824-S* would be in the middle for jeopardizing [redacted] security and for failure to advise him of this pertinent information.

CG 5824-S* believes [redacted] would report back to him because of a [redacted] and out of strictly [redacted] to CG 5824-S*. Because, as the informant put it, he and [redacted] could be.

b7D

b7D

Additionally, CG 6824-S* feels that there may be a reluctance on the part of [redacted] to cooperate with the Bureau because he has been unable to pull [redacted] totally away from the communist movement, and for this reason [redacted] might have a dual loyalty.

The Informant observed that he is certain that after [redacted] will withdraw at least from doing some of the things he is now doing for CG 6824-S*. This would possibly include covertly housing [redacted]

b7D

In view of the strong feelings of CG 6824-S* to the effect that he seriously questions that [redacted] would cooperate with a direct approach by the Bureau as through groundwork laid by CG 6824-S* and because of the potential risks of an unsuccessful contact which might jeopardize Solo and [redacted] trust of CG 6824-S* and further because of the new element of a possible remarriage of [redacted] to an anti-communist wife, [redacted] no contact will be had with [redacted] and this case is being closed.

SECURITY TEST - C

In 7/31/62, at the intersection of [redacted] and [redacted], [redacted] was approached by SA [redacted].
[redacted] for the purpose of conducting an interview under coverline's instructions relative to the Harvey Lee [redacted].
SA [redacted] [redacted] observed first [redacted].

b7D

After questioning LBJ, who apparently declined to be interviewed, agent attempted to avoid the interview by asking if "anyone else" could be interviewed. "I am waiting for the FBI," LBJ replied to agent. "You're waiting, aren't you?"

Wardlaw's effort was made to obtain LOA's involvement and in 1968 when Oswald's death in BSA was not LOA's, however, refused to proceed, continued within and local cooperation. The interview was too difficult since it was apparent that LOA had no desire to cooperate with the Bureau at this time.

In view of the protective attitude, shown by the American Protective Officers during previous conflicts, it is hereby is requested that this is so. The purpose of this investigation will be to find out whether or not there is any connection subject.

Re Los Angeles letter dated 7/13/62, and Bureau letter dated 7/27/62.

[REDACTED] was interviewed by SAs [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] on August 8, 1962. [REDACTED] was approached by the Agents as he left his car in a parking lot near his [REDACTED] home. The Agents called him by name and asked if they could speak to him for a minute. [REDACTED] replied that he had to [REDACTED] but could spare a few minutes.

The Agents then introduced themselves and [REDACTED] replied, stating that he suspected the Agents' identity. [REDACTED] then indicated that he didn't have time to talk to the Agents. It was pointed out to [REDACTED] that the Agents desired only a few minutes of his time but that if it would be more convenient perhaps he could suggest a more suitable time. [REDACTED] then stated that would have to be a suitable time.

The Agents then attempted to "soften" [REDACTED] by stating that they would appreciate any comment [REDACTED] on the trend of the thinking of the youth of today, and what he believed the Communist Party had to offer youth.

b7C
b7D

[REDACTED] then replied that he imagined that if he were "demanded" to speak to the Agents, certain legal procedures would have to be followed. The Agents replied that they were making no demands upon him but that in view of the responsibilities of the FBI in the internal security field, he was being called upon as a citizen in the hopes he could help his country. [REDACTED] replied that he has always believed he has helped his country.

[redacted] was observed on 7/24/01, in the vicinity of [redacted] SAs JAMES E. HALLIDAY and [redacted] through the JMW 0140/01, on 02/24/01, active monitoring & etc..

On contact the subject seemed nervous and tentative, and appeared friendly. He then engaged the subject in general friendly conversation for a short period and then appropriately introduced themselves. At this point the subject appeared nervous, and after a period of some initial contact, I don't know anything. In future, agents to engage subject in further conversation, subject mentioned not to be able to converse in English and obviously, I don't know anything. There is now a request that further agents to engage subject in conversation would be of the same, and I don't know anything. On the note that agents would recontact the subject and that is the subject should seriously consider discussing his activities within the CP with interviewing agents.

During the prior contact, the subject appeared nervous and somewhat shaken by the contact. He will be recontacted within 30 days.

Your attention is directed to Bulet dated 12-14-60, to Baltimore and all Toplev offices, setting forth certain suggestions to be considered in preparing for Toplev interviews. Before making your approach to the subject, carefully analyze her background and consider utilizing one or more of the suggestions in Bulet of 12-14-60 in making your contact with her. In addition, consider approaching [redacted] on the basis that you desire to discuss a matter of mutual interest concerning her activities. Do not request her cooperation immediately but merely attempt to have her discuss her own background, affiliation and sympathies and, in the event she is receptive, still refrain from requesting her cooperation during the initial contact. It has been observed that in many cases more progress is made by confining discussion to the subject's own personal situation and, until a firm relationship has been established with the subject, the matter of cooperation is relegated to the background. In addition, subjects such as [redacted] know without being told the primary purpose of the contact is to enlist her cooperation and discussion along that line is not necessary in the first instance.

COMMUNIST PARTY, USA

TOPLEY

Re Chicago letter dated 5/11/62, and Bureau letter to Chicago dated 5/17/62.

As suggested in referenced Bureau letter of May 17, 1962, a review of [ ] file at Chicago was undertaken in order to form an evaluation in [ ] background and personality traits to establish a proper basis on which to form an appeal that might prove successful in an interview with [ ] causing him to break with the Communist Party (CP), USA. b7D

A review of [ ] file reflects that [ ] has been in a [ ] capacity in the CP since at least the early 1940's. In the last three areas of assignment, that is Boston, Massachusetts, the CP of Indiana, and the CP of Illinois, [ ] has performed [ ] functions in a capable and organized manner.

A review of the file reflects that in the performance of his [ ] duties, [ ] unlike other CP [ ] has been essentially a "loner". The file review failed to reflect that [ ] other than his wife, [ ] has ever maintained a close personal relationship with any individual, either male or female. b6
b7D

On the basis of the review undertaken, it can be stated that [ ] is a person of strong ego, who operates in an almost mechanical fashion as a CP [ ]. The file review further reflected that he was a militant disciplined Party member who was skilled in the dogma of the Marxist - Leninist beliefs and who practiced that dogma in its purest sense. An example of this can be demonstrated by an incident which occurred while [ ] was operating in the CP underground.

in the State of Indiana under the alias of [redacted] while operating in this capacity, once appeared at a woman CP member's apartment and when admitted, went directly to her bedroom, where he began to examine her wearing apparel. When asked why he was doing this, [redacted] indicated that in connection with a Party assignment she was being selected for, she would not need all the feminine frills generally associated with a woman.

He instructed the woman to get rid of her feminine apparel and to retain only a pair of slacks, heavy coat, and one dress. The woman in question objected strenuously to [redacted] method of approach, but he remained adamant and stood firm from her protestations and indicated to the woman that these were her instructions and she would follow them.

A review of subject's file reflects few, if any, weaknesses in [redacted] personality makeup. Such weaknesses as liquor, women, or other vices are not apparent in [redacted] background. As demonstration of this, an incident occurred in approximately December, 1952, wherein [redacted] discussed the lonely life in the CP underground and indicated that some CP leaders, while in an underground status, tended to become degenerate in that they resorted to liquor and/or women. [redacted] at that time indicated that he was proud of the fact that he was able to surmount these difficulties while in the underground and resorted instead to libraries where he read and wrote a great deal.

A review of subject's file only indicates two possible areas of weakness on the part of [redacted]. One is in the area of income or money, and the other is in the area of an idea. The incidents which demonstrate these are as follows:

b7D

Following his time in the underground and at the time he was assigned as [redacted] the CP of Indiana, that is, around May, 1957, through September, 1957, [redacted] indicated to an informant that he was having money problems and that they had become unbearable. At the time, [redacted] wife was unemployed and on unemployment compensation. The CP was supposed to be paying [redacted] $50 a week; however, due to the shortage of funds which existed in the CP at that time, and in the CP of Indiana in particular, the Party was missing [redacted] salary regularly. [redacted] on that occasion indicated to the informant that he intended asking the National Headquarters of the CP to take him off the payroll and that he intended to seek private employment.

b7D

Subsequently, [redacted] advised this same Indianapolis informant that he had found private employment and that he was earning about $100 per week. He indicated that the private employment was in the nature of [redacted]

The second possible area of weakness on the part of [redacted] was indicated during the time of the factional split within the national leadership of the CP, USA, which subsequently resulted in the elimination of JOHN GATES as a CP leader. During this factional dispute and the period it raged, [redacted] was known to be of the [redacted]. However, [redacted] as a cautious man, never assumed a leadership position in this factional dispute so that he could be pinned down. The most demonstrative indication of [redacted] ideological beliefs at the time appear [redacted]

[redacted] of the National Committee, CP, USA, [redacted] in which he was specific in his criticisms of the attempt of some CP leaders to liquidate the CP, USA, and establish a political association. In this same [redacted] also defended strongly the position of WILLIAM Z. FOSTER, and stated that the Party owed a debt to FOSTER for the struggle that he made for a Marxist - Leninist Party, and that it was a matter of record and history that FOSTER had twice saved the CP.

As to [redacted] present personality traits, it is to be noted that since his removal as [redacted] the CP of Indiana in January, 1962, by GUS HALL, General Secretary, CP, USA, [redacted] has continued to demonstrate his withdrawn and "loner" attitude. There are no present known close associates of [redacted] in whom it can be said he confides. If anything, [redacted] can be said to be entirely alone at this time both as to his personal status and his political status. He lives alone, he is not participating in CP meetings, he is not expressing himself on current CP political issues, and although approached to attend an industrial council meeting in May, 1962, and previously in February, 1962, [redacted] has not participated in these meetings, and has utilized the excuse of security of the CP members as the basis for his not attending such meetings.

b7D

The only person available to this office who has had a direct contact with [redacted] since January, 1962, is

b7D

[redacted]

[redacted] It is this informant who has made several attempts to have [redacted] attend CP meetings of an industrial nature. This informant, when questioned concerning [redacted] present political attitude, stated that he cannot say that [redacted] has changed politically insofar as the CP is concerned. He stated that [redacted] is a man with "personal problems" and that eventually he believes [redacted] will again become politically active.

b7D

It is to be noted, however, that the knowledge of facts concerning [redacted] present activity does not square with [redacted] opinion of [redacted]. The industrial council meetings which [redacted] should attend and to which [redacted] has been invited, have been held at [redacted] Illinois. [redacted] resides at [redacted] a mere few steps away from these meetings and still has given no indication that he is interested in attending or that he is interested in what has transpired at these meetings.

Surveillances conducted to date on [redacted] have indicated that he only leaves his apartment on what appear to be [redacted]. His habits are that he leaves in the morning at approximately 10 a.m., travels by automobile to a particular home, and remains there approximately two hours, at which time he returns to his apartment. Investigator to date indicates that [redacted] has no visitors and according to the neighborhood source, who has visited his apartment, [redacted] appears to be engaged primarily in reading and writing. This neighborhood source has also advised that she knows of no visitors to [redacted] who has been living away from [redacted] while attending the [redacted]. Source has not [redacted] wife, [redacted] on one occasion and advises that other than this one time when she was introduced by [redacted] to his wife, she has not seen [redacted] wife visit him at this address.

b7C
b7D

In view of the file review and what it has shown, it is apparent that the third party approach suggested by the Bureau is not feasible. Any approach by a third party unknown to [redacted] and without any basis and circumstance would, in the opinion of the Chicago Division, be no better nor have any better success than would a direct approach on the street by an Agent of the FBI.

[redacted]

This file review has reflected that an approach of [redacted] at this time can only hope to explore his attitude and reaction to such an approach with the hope that by approaching him, he can be persuaded to allow the Agent sufficient time in which to request an additional appointment for more exploratory conversation.

b7D

In view of the file reflecting [redacted] concern for income and the necessity of earning a living, the Chicago Division would also recommend that the contacting Agent be in a position to make an offer to [redacted] at least at the second contact, if such is allowed, of a considerable amount of money. It is believed that this amount should be sufficiently large so as to cause [redacted] to hesitate before refusing the offer.

As to a "new type of approach", the Chicago Division has given thought to this and based on [redacted] method of operation, that is living alone and leaving his residence only to engage in [redacted] it is believed that a possibility did exist of luring [redacted] to an address utilizing the pretext of a [redacted] for [redacted]. However, it is [redacted] customary method to utilize a [redacted] and it is known that prospective [redacted] who have answered [redacted] and called his telephone number stating the purpose of their call, have been subsequently contacted by [redacted] invited them to his residence to discuss the [redacted] in question.

After some consideration, the possibility indicated has been rejected by the Chicago Division due to the complexity of this pretext and inasmuch as there is no guarantee that [redacted] would respond.

After due consideration, it is the opinion of the Chicago Division, because of the nature of [redacted] activities and the manner in which he lives, the best approach to [redacted] would be at some place distant from his residence with one Agent making the approach, observed by another. From all the facts known, it appears that this method is the most logical and direct way to resolve [redacted] current attitude at this time.

b7D

The Chicago Division, therefore, renews its request for Bureau approval to approach [redacted] in the manner indicated. It is the intent of this office that if the approach

b7D

[redacted]

suggested finds [redacted] in a receptive mood, the initial approach would only be utilized to attempt to persuade him to allow the contacting Agent an appointment at some future time for a more thorough and definitive discussion of his attitude toward the CP.

b7D

This request for Bureau approval, of course, is submitted on the basis that the Bureau has resolved with the Department the question of the Department's intent for prosecuting [redacted] under the Internal Security Act of 1950.

In this connection, it is being brought to the attention of the Bureau that Assistant Attorney General WALTER YAGELY, while in the Chicago Division in late June, 1962, indicated an interest in the available new evidence concerning [redacted]

[redacted] This matter was not fully discussed with Mr. YAGELY other than to advise him that there was no change as to the availability of witnesses to testify concerning [redacted] subsequent to [redacted]

b7D

In this connection, it is to be noted that the submission of this letter has been held in abeyance beyond the 30 day request of time because of the possibility that [redacted] as a member of the [redacted] the CP of Illinois, might attend a [redacted] meeting to hear the results of the National Defense Conference held by the CP at New York City on June 22 - 24, 1962.

It is to be noted that an enlarged [redacted] meeting for this purpose was held on July 7, 1962, and [redacted] did not attend this function. Consequently, there has been no change as to the available evidence to place [redacted] at a closed CP meeting subsequent to December 20, 1961, other than what has been previously furnished the Bureau.

A review of Bufile discloses that subject's name has been deleted from the Security Index. [redacted] was last contacted, according to Bufile, in March, 1962, and continued to cooperate with the Bureau to a certain extent. According to previous communications from your office, he appears sincere and honest in his statements and has freely discussed some areas of his past activities.

Since he has not been active for some time in the Communist Party, it is realized that he has a limited, if any, potential for development as a security informant. He could, however, be an excellent source of information on past communist activities if he would be completely cooperative.

You should continue to carefully arrange interviews with the subject and maintain a cordial relationship in an effort to develop his full and unrestricted cooperation.

When you feel you have obtained this position, submit a communication to the Bureau under the caption "Source of Information" summarizing the assistance which he has rendered during interviews and list him in your records as a successful approach under the Toplev Program.

[redacted]
SECURITY MATTER - C
SMITH ACT OF 1940

Authority was granted to you to interview the subject under the TOPLEV Program by Bulet dated April 26, 1962. This letter made several suggestions to you regarding the use of the subject's husband, who was cooperative with your office, as an intermediary in connection with the interview of the subject. By letter dated July 2, 1962, you indicated you had contacted the subject's husband on June 15, 1962, and you intended to further interview him prior to contacting the subject.

You replied to Bureau 0-1 Form dated August 2, 1962, by stating unproductive attempts had been made to recontact the subject's husband. By letter dated August 30, 1962, you advised you had made attempts to place the subject at a secure location so she could be approached and you would resume your attempts to interview her when she returned from vacation after September 10, 1962.

It is apparent you have not afforded this interview your prompt attention and you have not fully explored the possible use of subject's husband as an intermediary. Therefore, authority to interview the subject is temporarily denied. Advise the Bureau promptly as to the results of your recontact with [redacted] and set out in detail the approach you had intended to use in interviewing [redacted]

b7D

When the Bureau has this information, further consideration will be given to authorizing a TOPLEV interview of [redacted]. Additional delays in this matter will not be tolerated.

SECURITY MATTER - C

A review of Bufile discloses that an approach was made to the subject near his place of employment on 12-28-61 and as soon as he ascertained the identity of the interviewing Agent he stated that he had nothing to say. Efforts to draw him into conversation were unsuccessful. It was indicated that consideration would be given to interviewing him in six months.

According to Bufile [redacted] does not appear to be active in the Communist Party at the present time and since a considerable period has elapsed since your initial approach to him, it is possible that he has had sufficient time to consider changing his mind with regard to cooperating with the Bureau. In connection with a reinterview with the subject, it is suggested that consideration be given to a contact with him at his place of residence, or through an intermediary or a location where he may feel secure and at ease.

Prior to any such approach, however, investigation should be conducted to determine that such a contact may be made with security. If you feel an attempt should be made to contact him at his residence or through an intermediary, advise the Bureau and request authority in that regard. No additional authority is necessary to conduct reinterviews in the same manner as the initial interview.

[redacted] was approached for interview under provisions of the Toplev Program on 9/20/62, in the vicinity of her residence, [redacted]. She was interviewed by SA PHILLIP M. BROOKS with SA JAMES P. HALLERON observing the interview from a discreet distance.

b7D [redacted] readily admitted her identity and immediately inquired as to the identity of the interviewing Agent and the reason for the contact. Interviewing Agent thereupon introduced himself and attempted to draw her into conversation, however, [redacted] quickly withdrew and stated, "I have nothing to say to you." Further efforts to engage her in conversation were met with the same statement and interview was terminated when it was apparent that she did not intend to waver from her stand.

[redacted] was calm and reserved throughout the interview, however, she remained adamant in her refusal to discuss any matter with the Agent. No further contacts with her are contemplated at this time and the results of this interview will be incorporated in the next report prepared in this matter. This case is being placed in a pending inactive status in the NYO.

years she may have had reason to change her mind, as so many persons active in the Communist movement had done. She replied she felt she had done nothing wrong, and had no information which would be of assistance to the government, and therefore had nothing to say. The agents commented upon her years of activity in support of the Communist movement, and asked her to consider that the eventual aim of the Party is the establishment of a dictatorship. She neither denied or affirmed this assertion, but repeated that she had nothing to say, but did not attempt to terminate the contact, and it was apparent that she was waiting for someone to arrive. The agents continued to speak to her for several minutes, regarding the jurisdiction of the FBI, the nature of the Communist conspiracy, and suggested it would be well for her to reconsider whether she should continue to serve the Party. At this point a station wagon, which subject had apparently been waiting for arrived at the corner, and subject replied that she did not feel that she could be of assistance, and had nothing to say, and then walked toward the waiting station wagon.

EVALUATION OF INTERVIEW

The attitude of subject was not hostile, however since she did not indicate any willingness to discuss the matter at hand, it does not appear that any further contact with her should be made in the immediate future. The results of the current contact with subject will be included in a subsequent report in subject's case.

ReBulet 8/1/62.

On September 17, 1962 SAs DARWIN E. THORNTON and PAUL B. FRANKFURT placed the residence of [REDACTED] Illinois, under observation.

b7D At approximately 11:30 AM that date, [REDACTED] was observed to leave his residence. [REDACTED] was surveilled to approximately a block and a half distant from his residence on [REDACTED] at which time he was seen to approach his automobile. At this point SA THORNTON, with SA FRANKFURT observing, approached [REDACTED] addressing him by name and requesting a moment of his time for a conversation of mutual interest. [REDACTED] response was "what do you want?". The fact that a moment of his time for conversation was being requested was restated, at which time [REDACTED] stated "who are you?".

b7D SA THORNTON identified himself, at which time [REDACTED] turned from the agent and entered his automobile. SA THORNTON went to the driver's side and again asked [REDACTED] would he please allow a moment of his time, at which time [REDACTED] replied "I don't have a g-- d--- thing to say to you." As he made this statement, [REDACTED] started the motor of his automobile. SA THORNTON asked him if he would wait a moment and permit him to enter the automobile and talk to him. [REDACTED] response was "get the h--- out of my way" and with this remark accelerated his motor and drove his car off down the street, terminating the conversation.

In view of [REDACTED] demonstrated hostile attitude, it is not believed feasible to pursue a contact of [REDACTED] any further. Consequently the Chicago Office will make no further attempts to interview [REDACTED]. The results of the aforementioned contact with [REDACTED] will be incorporated in the next regular investigative report submitted by this office concerning [REDACTED].

INTERNAL SECURITY - C
SMITH ACT OF 1940

Reurlet September 19, 1962.

As you are aware, unproductive attempts were made to interview [redacted] in 1955, 1958 and 1959. Although there is a remote possibility she would be cooperative if she was once again contacted on the street, the Bureau is inclined to feel she would take "the easy way out" and again avoid any conversation with the interviewing Agents. Therefore, the Bureau will not authorize you to interview the subject in the manner you propose in referenced letter.

b7D

The Bureau desires that interviews under the provisions of the TOPLEV Program be carefully planned and thought out so they will have greater chance for success than mere contacts with subjects on the street. For this reason, Bureau letter dated April 26, 1962, suggested that you carefully consider the possible use of subject's husband, who is cooperative with your office, as an intermediary in connection with your approach of the subject. This letter also suggested several appeals in connection with your interview and authorized you to conduct the interview at subject's residence if you deemed this advisable.

You are instructed to conduct a thorough review of subject's case file for the purpose of developing positive appeals to use in connection with a possible interview of [redacted]

Also interview her husband further to insure you have considered all possibilities of his use as an intermediary and to determine from him a more desirable location and better circumstances in which you may conduct the interview.

Your attention is called to the fact that [redacted] testified in behalf of the Government as a surprise witness in late [redacted], before the [redacted] in Washington, D. C.

ReBulet, 9/11/62.

As suggested in Bulet of 4/26/62, [ ] husband of the subject, was contacted in order to explore the possibility of his acting as an intermediary in connection with the contemplated approach to the subject. [ ] at this time emphatically stated that he himself could be of no direct assistance as an intermediary as he feared for his family's harmony should the subject be unreceptive and was to suspect his cooperation. (NYlet 7/2/62).

b7D

In this interview [ ] did state that he would like additional time to consider the matter and that when he arrived at what he thought might be a desirable approach he would contact the Bureau agents. He further insisted, however, that if the agents felt it necessary to contact him that they do it in the manner in which this contact was made, namely, by a call to his residence requesting that he stop by the [ ] [ ] stated on receiving this message he would return the call the following day.

Following a period of time, in which to allow [ ] to think the matter over thoroughly, attempts were made to contact him in the manner agreed. These attempts met with negative results.

Since [redacted] was unavailable (he has stated that his employment carries him through several states and at times requires unscheduled stay overs, sometimes lasting a week) and since he had not contacted the Bureau agents thereby suggesting he had not arrived at a solution more desirable than that discussed in the initial interview, it was felt that no further attempts to locate [redacted] should be made but rather efforts to locate the subject for interview at a secure location should commence. Thus attempts were made to locate the subject in order that an interview might be conducted under provisions of the Toplev Program.

These attempts, however, have been unproductive. A pretext call to the subject's employment disclosed the subject was vacationing in upstate New York and was not scheduled to return until September 10, 1962. A source, whose apartment affords him visibility of the subject's residence, reported that no lights or activity have been observed by him during the summer months and to his knowledge no one was currently occupying the residence. [redacted] advised on 8/15/62, that the subject's children were visiting in Richmond, Virginia. Thus the proposed interview was delayed until after 9/10/62. (NYlet 8/30/62)

On 9/19/62, [redacted] responded to previous calls made to him in the agreed manner. [redacted] stated that he had given the matter considerable thought and had not arrived at a solution. Since the use of other intermediaries, such as associates and college professors of whom the subject had great respect, were ruled out due to risk of embarrassment, a direct approach was still considered the most desirable method of approach.

Thus the plan of approach that was intended to be used in interviewing the subject was a direct approach to be made during the subject's lunch hour when she occasionally strolled into the Brooklyn shopping area.

In the beginning, following introductions, an attempt would be made to draw the subject into general conversation and to steer this conversation into a discussion of the subject's children and the effect her activities might have upon them. Attempts would be made to impress upon her the duty she has as a responsible person to her children and country.

[redacted]

Should this prove ineffective and should the conversation proceed, attempts would be made to draw the subject into conversation concerning her skepticism of certain motives of the Communist Party. [redacted] in the earlier interview, stated that he suspected the subject might have some doubts concerning the leadership of the Party and that the rank and file members are basically good people but for the most part innocent dupes and further that the Party might be ruled by a sinister secret group who direct the open leadership.

In this regard, and in order to dispute any attempt by the subject to dismiss the statements of the agents as the "line" of the "capitalist police," public source material pertaining to this matter was located. A story on Communism by JOHN K. JESSUP in the 10/20/61 issue of "Life" magazine on page 131, states in part:

"In many countries (including the U.S.) the party branch is legal and 'open,' runs Marxist schools and periodicals, and is a source of coherent if baited views on public issues of the day. But Lenin laid down the 'absolute necessity' in principle of combining illegal with legal work, so that even an open Communist party keeps part of itself hidden; many members are not told of the party's aims."

It is realized the subject could dismiss this as "capitalistic press," however, conceivably, it might cause the subject concern since she already is believed to be skeptical of the party's stated aims.

In addition, should the opportunity present itself, the recent build-up of Russian arms in Cuba would be discussed.

It is hoped that discussions of these matters would resolve certain skepticisms of the subject and ultimately result in her full cooperation.

It is therefore requested that Bureau authority be granted to contact the subject in the manner described.

SECURITY MATTER - C

Reurlet 9-25-62 setting forth the results of a successful contact with subject under this program. It is noted that [redacted] agreed somewhat reluctantly to an interview and suddenly began a discussion of the reasons he joined the Communist Party (CP) and subsequently terminated his relationship. He claimed he had not associated with anyone in the Party since the late 1950's and no one from the Party has attempted to induce him to return.

b7D

[redacted] stated that even though he had furnished some information regarding his Party connection, he would not give the names of individuals he had known in the Party or otherwise discuss his past Party activities. Even though it was pointed out to him that he could assist the FBI without divulging his past activities, he was not receptive to this suggestion. Subject agreed to another contact which you anticipate making within 30 days.

ORIGINAL FILED IN

This interview with [redacted] on 9-18-62 is encouraging and you should carefully plan your next contact in order to gain his confidence. If it appears that he is still reluctant to furnish details regarding his Party activity, merely discuss with him personal matters showing a sincere interest in his affairs. On the other hand, if [redacted] indicates that he has gained confidence in the FBI, you may be able to request his assistance in analyzing some particular matter of common interest relating to communism or a specific document or paper which may have recently appeared in print. It may be emphasized that his vast experience can be utilized for this purpose and it is possible he may feel flattered by this approach and open the door for further discussion of his own involvement in the communist movement.

b7D Since [REDACTED] has had many years of experience in the Party and spent considerable time in the underground he must be in possession of a wealth of information which can be of assistance to the Bureau. The interviewing Agents should, therefore, not only consider the above suggestions but also consider other avenues of approach to this problem to take advantage of this excellent opportunity. Even though [REDACTED] has not been active in the CP since about 1957 and claims to have no association or contact since that time, there is always the possibility that he may be reactivated in a confidential capacity for the Bureau. Your approach should, therefore, have a two-fold purpose; first, to obtain full and complete cooperation of [REDACTED] to elicit from him everything within his knowledge on the activities of Party members and his own activities in the Party; second, consider on a long-range basis reactivating him in the Party for the Bureau.

Keep the Bureau advised of this contact and all future contacts with [REDACTED]

b7D [REDACTED] who was known in the CP as [REDACTED] was a New York State [REDACTED] for about 17 years and in the underground from 1951 to 1955. He reportedly left the Party in 1956-1957, as a result of a factional fight in the Brooklyn CP. He was contacted under the Toplev Program on 6-28-58 and 6-7-60 and refused to be interviewed. For the past several years he has been self-employed [REDACTED]. When approached on 9-18-62, he abruptly indicated he would talk and stated he joined the Party for economic reasons and left as a result of the Khrushchev revelations concerning Stalin. Even though he stated he will not discuss his past activities, New York should make every effort to obtain this information which is extremely valuable particularly his knowledge of the underground with which he was connected.

Once in the restaurant, the interviewing agents continued their soft friendly approach, touching only casually on the real purpose for their contact--his relationship with communism and the possibility for his utilization as an informant--allowing him to "feel" his own way along and discuss what he chose to discuss; all the while, gently and tactfully prodding him on in one direction or another.

Suddenly, almost abruptly, [redacted] interrupted the cautious prodding and stated, "All right, I will say something, I will talk to you."

[redacted] then began a discussion of how he became attracted to the CP and why he left. The statement was carefully worded, and although obviously not prepared in advance, it was something which he appeared to have held in subconscious reserve, ready for the day when he might be persuaded to "talk" to the FBI. His statement was apologetic, self-venting and quite generalized.

His statement, which he would not, he said, put in writing, was delivered in what appeared to be sincere, almost passionate, tones. His eyes flooded with tears on several occasions.

b7D

The interviewing agents did notice several places in his "story" which were not quite in keeping with the facts, but took only limited exception, and chose to let him talk on now, and have their chance at rebuttal later.

[redacted] stated that he was unequivocally opposed to the CP and to communism.

[redacted] answered negatively when asked if he made the distinction often made by some "ex"-communists between the Soviet CP and the United States CP. His opinion or position referred to was that, although opposed to the United States CP and its officials, these individuals left room for a return to the CP, USA, given the appropriate leadership or administration.

b7D

[redacted] stated that he did not make that distinction and that it was unequivocally opposed to the communist ideology and to its practical application anywhere including, of course, the United States and the Soviet Union.

b7D

[redacted] advised that he broke completely with the CP, USA in the late 1950's and never again associated with the CP or any of its leadership or associates. Asked if this break was both practical and philosophical, he replied in the affirmative.

In fact, he explained by way of example, that he often took pains to "cross to the other side of the street" when he had to go to see a former CP associate approaching him on the street.

He stated that since his break with the CP, no one in the CP had ever sought to entreat him or to induce him to return to the CP.

He was asked what exactly it was that caused him to turn against the CP and asked to explain to those present he had believed in and followed for so many years.

He stated that the revelations made public by [redacted] concerning [redacted] were the main ones that had driven him away from communism. He explained that these revelations brought home to him that communism, as practiced and espoused by the Soviet Union, was not, as he had believed, a sound, workable philosophy, but was instead merely a terrible political machine.

Asked why it had taken him so long to see communism for what it was, he replied, "Well, some people are built that way, it takes some people longer than others to see things in their proper perspective."

In way of explaining how he had become attracted to communism, [redacted] stated that he had grown up in poor economic surroundings during the depression and drifted into communism, "along with many others."

b7D

[redacted] stated that although he had "talked" badly, he would "never" under any circumstances give the names of individuals he had known on the party or otherwise discuss his past activities as a communist.

He stated that he felt that he was never "completely wrong" and was never broken and lost. The agents took exception to this statement, but again chose not to object too strongly lest they destroy the progress being made and the rapport being established.

On the other hand, however, [redacted] stated that if any information should ever come to his attention indicating that any communist or socialist related individual known or believed planning to come here to the United States, he would be constituting a violation of the law.

When asked if he would help in the situation if reversed and told the FBI if the FBI became aware that an individual known to [redacted] was about to do harm to the United States, he replied. Again, he was not pressed too hard this time.

b7D

It was well clear to [redacted] that there were many areas in which he could help the FBI without divulging his prior activities, and without becoming, so to speak, an "informant." Again, he balked.

Concerning his family, he stated that his [redacted] [redacted] were both completely opposed to communism and communists. He stated that he had told his [redacted] about his communist background and, in a sketchy manner, had also given his high school age [redacted] some idea of his past. This was one of the points during the interview when [redacted] eyes had filled with tears.

b6
b7C
b7D

With regard to his wife, [redacted] stated that she was "completely out of it, too." At this point, [redacted] explained that his wife was going through the menopause, was very nervous and high-strung, and [redacted] regretted that the FBI people often contacted her. He advised that she was affected, physically, by such contacts, and on 6 days on which such contacts were made, she would return home in the evening, nervous and overwrought.

The agents pointed out that they were unaware of her physical condition, but had always been careful to contact her discreetly and quietly. They pointed out further that because she worked only two blocks from the New York office of the FBI, chances are that she would often, accidentally, meet with FBI agents.

Just prior to the termination of the interview -- [redacted] had to get to his office--it was pointed out to [redacted] that the agents had scarcely had any time to get in "their act," and hoped that the three could meet again soon. [redacted] was agreeable and said, "Phone me when you're ready."

b7D

b7D

[REDACTED]

Evaluation

Previous attempted interviews with the subject have proved unsuccessful. He has never before admitted himself to be interviewed.

He did not fit the pattern of very "hot"-communist who have a tight story which they readily provide concerning people and events upon which they without violence, on, too, with respect, seems to be psychological.

His appearance is not that of a cold, calm, and collected, but in other words, not a cold or calm and collected.

He will be interviewed during the next thirty days.

Reurlet 10-1-62 in which you advise that the subject when approached on 9-10-62 appeared to be in a friendly mood and stated she had no information which she felt could be of interest. The contacting Agent did not obtain her agreement to an appointment in the future but the interview was terminated on a friendly note.

In relet you indicated a recontact would be made with the subject within 30 days. Since [redacted] was friendly and did not reject the contacting Agent's approach, a careful and searching review should be made of her background, habits and daily routine so that the greatest possible advantage may be gained from the next approach. Since she used the excuse that she was late for work during the contact on 9-10-62, it is obvious that some other time of day should be considered and preferably a time and place where she will not be in motion. It may be possible by observing subject's daily routine to determine where and when she has lunch or any other meal where she is alone and relaxed. If you feel a secure approach may be made at her residence set forth your reasons and obtain specific authority.

During the four previous approaches to [redacted] she was antagonistic and refused to converse in any way with the contacting Agent. Her mood on 9-10-62 is encouraging from our standpoint and this next approach can be the means of obtaining excellent information. During this next contact after carefully staging the time and place of approach, do not request her cooperation immediately but attempt to establish a firm personal relationship to gain her confidence. There is no doubt that she is aware of the reason for the contact and if she is receptive, still refrain from requesting her cooperation at this time, unless she appears definitely willing [redacted] She has a history of CP activity which goes back to 1942 when she held various positions in the CP in Detroit. She moved to New York City in the 1940's where she became [redacted] Brooklyn in 1949. She was employed by the [redacted] CP, in Brooklyn in 1950-51 and could not be located from 1951 until about 1955 when she again re-appeared, in New York City and resumed communist activity. It has not been established that she was in the CP underground but it has been determined that her name has been kept at CP Headquarters for many years. She was in attendance at the 16th National Convention, CPUSA, in 1957 but in the last few years she has not appeared in the Party in an active capacity. She was contacted under the Toplev Program 4-16-56, 6-17-57, 4-9-59, 10-9-59 and 9-10-62. In all approaches previous to 9-10-62, she was unfriendly, excited and absolutely refused to discuss anything with the Agent. SECURITY MATTER - C

A review of Bufile indicates that subject's name has been deleted from the Security Index.

b7D

During contacts with him he has gradually furnished more and more information regarding his past Communist Party activity and on occasion has provided some information on other individuals in the communist movement.

If you feel [redacted] is completely cooperative, you should consider submitting a communication under the character "Source of Information" summarizing the assistance which he has rendered during interviews with him.

Authority is granted to contact [redacted] whenever feasible in accordance with outstanding instructions relating to the Toplev Program.

[redacted] is unemployed and attending [redacted] [redacted] New Jersey. Your approach to him should not be made on the campus. Carefully review the file on [redacted] and his background and plan the time and place of approach so that he will not be in a position to break off the contact. It may be possible to meet him when he is not in motion and will be obliged to carry out a conversation. As he is a well indoctrinated communist [redacted] he will be well aware of the reason of the contact and should not be requested to cooperate but merely attempt to discuss with him his own background, activities and sympathies. If he is in a receptive mood and a firm personal relationship is established, the matter of cooperation should still be relegated to the background until later interview.

II. CP ACTIVITIES

Subject has been a member of the CP since 1941 and has participated actively in the CP and [redacted] down through the years. He is a member of the [redacted] the NJCP and currently holds the [redacted] of the NJCP. He was the [redacted] [redacted] and, at the present, [redacted] CP activity in the State of N.J.

III. METHOD OF APPROACH

In the recent past, [redacted] has been at odds with the National CP leadership and has stated that he intended to return to school and could not continue to shoulder the responsibilities put upon him.

In addition, he is known to be an individual who is extremely concerned with security. The disclosure in Washington on [redacted] within the NJCP, [redacted] is an FBI informant, might conceivably serve as a lever by which contacting agents could establish the basis for a productive interview with him. It is contemplated that a direct approach will be made to [redacted] in an area away from his residence.

If he proves receptive, endeavor to keep the discussion on a cordial level and do not press him for the identities of his communist associates. It has been observed that in many cases more progress is made by confining discussions to the subject's own personal situation; and, until a firm relationship has been established with the subject, the matter of cooperation is relegated to the background. In addition, subjects such as [redacted] know without being told the primary purpose of the contact is to enlist his cooperation, and discussion along that line is not necessary in the first instance. On 9/28/62, [REDACTED] was approached as he left his place of employment. He recognized the interviewing Agent from a previous contact and was cordial in his greeting, however, he stated that he had an urgent appointment and asked to be excused. Interviewing Agent accompanied him along the street to the bus stop in an effort to arrange a meeting at a future date but [REDACTED] advised that he was unable to make any commitments at that time. During the walk to the bus stop, [REDACTED] engaged in a cordial, casual conversation and did not indicate that he was unwilling to meet with the Agent on another occasion.

Remylet dated 8/31/62.

In relet a lead was set forth to recontact [REDACTED] under TOPLEV.

Since relet it was learned on August 20, 1962, from [REDACTED] who has furnished reliable information in the past, that at a meeting of the [REDACTED]
CP of Illinois, held on August 15, 1962, that [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] asked [REDACTED] [REDACTED] the FBI had been after him. [REDACTED] stated that [REDACTED] told him that the FBI followed him down to the beach, where he told the FBI that he was going to drive away, therefore watch yourself.
It was then discussed whether it would be wise to have any meetings at [REDACTED] residence and [REDACTED] stated that the next meeting is scheduled for September 6, 1962, at [REDACTED] but to still go ahead with it there.

In view of the fact that [REDACTED] reported the August 3, 1962 FBI contact to the CP, it is felt that a further contact with [REDACTED] at this time would not be productive.

Four Agents are assigned to the Toplev Program. In considering subjects for approach under this program, careful consideration is being given to suitable members of the current and recent CP leadership. Thorough background analysis of each subject is being made prior to contact under the Toplev Program. Particular attention is being given to those individuals who may exhibit signs of defection as a result of the SACB hearings with New York respondents.

In preparation for the Youth Festival held in Helsinki, Finland, July 28 to August 6, 1962, the CP selected individuals for attendance, those individuals who showed promise for leadership capacity within the CPUSA.

The NYO, ever mindful of the necessity of locating an individual with capabilities for utilization in the NY 694-S* apparatus, has reviewed files of individuals who attended the Helsinki conferences and feels that because of their potential, and in certain instances their selection by the CP, they should be given immediate, concentrated and sustained attention under the Toplev Informant Program in the NYO.

The Toplev Agents, for the next few months, will select the bulk of their interviewees from the list of attendants at the Youth Festival.

These individuals will be interviewed in accordance with outstanding instructions under the Toplev Program.

[redacted]
or able to do anything else.

The interviewing agents took the view from this statement, that given available time, [redacted] might be inclined towards aiding the FBI. They exposed that view and [redacted] smiled and said, "No, really, I can't help you."

b7D

The SA's then advised [redacted] that the picture he [redacted] to those around him and to those affiliated with him in the Negro movement, could be misleading. That is to say, if he is sincere in his integrationist ideals and does not correct the incomplete picture being presented, he may well harm himself, the SCLC, and the integrationist movement as a whole. He seemed interested and the SA's proceeded to explain what they meant. They pointed out that [redacted] an individual formerly quite active in the Communist movement (and he did not interrupt), suddenly ceased such activities and affiliations and became involved full time in untainted integrationist activities. The third and last step was missing. [redacted] had done nothing to absolve himself from the taint attached to his Communist Party affiliations.

The SA's further explained that the Americans currently within the Negro integrationist movement, who have never had any Communist Party (CP) or liberal inclination, when and if they should become aware of [redacted] past, would be very much concerned and would look closely to see if [redacted] did, in fact, leave the CP, and if, in his sincere disassociation, had taken the next logical step and made known to the FBI, the responsible agency, the fact that he had left the CP and why. [redacted] again appeared sincerely interested.

He answered that the FBI was aware of his past and present, that he felt that actions speak louder than words, and that a man is judged more for what he does than for what he says. The SA's answered this by saying that since [redacted] had never fully cooperated with the responsible agency, the FBI, and given them the story himself, his actions, upon which he was relying so heavily, would tend to tell an erroneous story to those observing them objectively. They repeated that he had left out the third step. Thus far, his actions spelled out activity with the Communist Party, followed by activity with the integrationist movement and no more. What was needed now was one more positive active step, and the step which logically

b7D

[redacted]
[redacted] followed was cooperation with the FBI, at least to the minimum extent of fully presenting the story of [redacted]

b7D

[redacted] was advised to seriously consider these aspects of his life and to take the action indicated and to cooperate, confidentially, with the FBI.

He stated that he would take that advice, would consider what the SA's had presented to him, and he agreed to further contact.

After the interview, [redacted] was observed by SA's [redacted] and HALLERON walking rapidly to the entrance to [redacted] whereupon he entered the building, and most probably the offices of the [redacted]

EVALUATION

[redacted] was impressed. He seemed sincerely concerned about the possibility that he could, by non-cooperation or non-divulgence to the proper authorities, of facts concerning his past, scuttle his own personal, and possibly sincere, efforts, and, in turn, the efforts of his group and those around him.

b7D

On the other hand, however, the NYO is aware that GUS HALL currently considers [redacted] a member of the Communist Party [redacted] and recently (July, 1962) characterized [redacted] as a [redacted] MARTIN LUTHER KING and stated that [redacted] was doing an "excellent" job.

The difficulty is that the NYO is prohibited from "using" this information in turning [redacted] because it comes either from technical sources and/or NY 694-S*.

The NYO feels that if [redacted] is shamming sincerity, he may now feel secure in the belief that the Bureau has not "found him out."

b7D

The NYO Toplev agents assigned to this matter propose to thoroughly review [redacted] file and confer with the case agent in an effort to discover some oblique way of letting [redacted] know that the Bureau is, in fact, on to him, or at least more than merely logically suspicious, and thereby shake him from his feeling of security and possibly cause him to show his true hand.

If he is merely an opportunist and he becomes aware that the Bureau is on to him, it is possible that, in time, with further persuasion, he may swing to the Bureau's side.

The NYO will therefore review the file and confer with the case agent, and when and if that usable bit of information is discovered, present it to the Bureau for its approval of usage in the next interview.

The Toplev agents are aware that the NYO and the Bureau in its counterintelligence program (cf. NYlet to Bureau, 9/28/62, entitled "CPUSA - COUNTERINTELLIGENCE, IS - C") has under consideration utilization of certain

b7D

[redacted] concerning past activities of [redacted] The instant problem concerns itself with discovering a usable current activity to move [redacted] from what he believes to be a secure position. No public exposition of the information sought for is being considered. Pointing out past activities to [redacted] such as the [redacted] would not suffice here.

It is hoped that the usable information sought for in this matter can be located within the next thirty days, at which time the Bureau will be advised and an interview planned.

He reportedly has been a member of the CP in Cleveland since 1942; was formerly the proprietor of the Communist Party [REDACTED] and was [REDACTED] in 1958, and an [REDACTED] CP in the same year. He continued to be active in Communist affairs until 1962, but reported to be "dropping out" of the CP for fear of prosecution. He was previously contacted on February 6, 1953 and October 29, 1956 and was uncooperative.

b7D

Investigation disclosed that about October 1, 1962 subject, his wife, and mother-in-law, who resided [REDACTED] moved to a single home at [REDACTED] Ohio. Subject and his wife purchased this home, valued at $18,500 and assumed a mortgage of $8,500.

Subject replied "No comment", and continued to walk back and forth across his lawn. To further statements of the agents concerning the activities of subject and his wife in support of the CP, subject only replied "No comment", and declined to stop working and enter into a discussion with the agents. The contact with subject was then terminated with the suggestion that subject reconsider his position.

Evaluation of Interview

The subject in refusing to be drawn into discussion was firm, and his manner was somewhat loud and belligerent. He gave no indication of having lost sympathy with the Communist movement, or of being willing to discuss the matter at hand. It does not appear that any further contact with subject should be made in the immediate future. The results of the current contact with subject will be included in a subsequent report in subject's case.

At 3:25 PM, as he approached the entrance to his residence, he was approached by the agents, and he immediately asked, "Do I know you". The agents introduced themselves, and indicated they would like to speak to subject for a few minutes. Subject upon learning the identity of the agents, immediately began walking toward the entrance to his [redacted] and replied "No, I have nothing to say". He then entered the door leading to his [redacted] and the contact was concluded.

Evaluation of Interview

Subject was previously contacted on September 11, 1956 and was uncooperative. During the current contact with subject he exhibited a militant, firm, decisive manner, and did not indicate in any way a willingness to discuss the matter at hand. It does not appear that any further contact with him should be made in the immediate future. The results of the current contact with subject will be included in a subsequent report in subject's case.

Recep of SA OLIVER A. CHALIFOUX dated 8/10/62 at Newark and Newark letter to Bureau dated 9/26/62.

On 10/17/62, subject was contacted at her residence by SAs [redacted] When subject answered the door, she appeared to be emotionally disturbed. After the Agents identified themselves, subject stated, "You'll have to excuse me, I've just had a personal problem come up and I can't talk at this time. I'm very upset." The Agents commented that they hoped the problem was not a serious one, whereupon the subject replied, "It is a very serious one". Reference is made to the recent transfer of Special Agent John J. Mattimore to the Miami Office. As the Bureau is aware, SA Mattimore was assigned full time to the Toplev Program. In view of the importance of this Program, as well as the outstanding success achieved under it, it is deemed most important that a replacement be designated in order to continue the interviews with four agents. It is therefore requested that the Bureau authorize utilization of Special Agent William C. Martin for this purpose.

SA Martin EOD with the Bureau as a Clerk on 11/4/41. Between 1946 and 1950, he was a Special Employee. He entered on duty as a Special Agent on 10/9/50. On 10/23/53, he was assigned to the New York Office. Since that time he has been handling investigations involving the Communist Party and its members. He has been a Relief Supervisor in the New York Office since 4/13/61.

Since SA Martin has been assigned to security type investigations he has gained a very thorough knowledge of Marxism-Leninism, as well as becoming acquainted with the various factors connected with informant development. This agent has been an excellent employee in every respect. He presents an excellent appearance and has a most pleasing personality. He makes an excellent impression on those with whom he comes in contact. He has demonstrated above average judgment and is the type of individual who readily assumes responsibility. It is felt that this agent presents an excellent choice for this Program.

It is understood that when this agent is approved by the Bureau for utilization on this Program, he will thoroughly review and become completely familiar with instructions, policy and procedure relating to the Program.

A review of the file pertaining to [redacted] reflects that since the interview on February 15, 1962, he has been interviewed on only one occasion, that being in connection with an SAC letter, on March 20, 1962. It is further noted that on April 5, 1962, [redacted] furnished a signed statement containing his views concerning the Communist Party (CP), this statement being a direct result of the interview on February 15, 1962.

During the interview on February 15, 1962, as well as during the conversation on March 20, 1962, [redacted] stated that he would not furnish information concerning his former associates in the Communist Party. He advised that many of these persons are no longer affiliated with the CP and, in view of the lack of activity in [redacted] Ohio, he would not believe that these persons constitute a threat to the security of the United States. On February 15, 1962, [redacted] stated he would furnish information concerning any person of his present or former acquaintance who is in actual violation of a Federal law or who, by virtue of a position with the Government, could conceivably act in a manner inimical to the interests of this country. His response to the inquiry of March 20, 1962, indicates that he would abide by his stated position in this regard.

b7D Your attention is directed to Sulet dated 12-14-60, to Baltimore and all Toplev offices, setting forth certain suggestions to be considered in preparing for Toplev interviews. Before making your approach to the subject, carefully analyze his background and consider utilizing one or more of the suggestions in Sulet of 12-14-60 in making your contact with him. In addition, consider approaching [redacted] on the basis that you desire to discuss a matter of mutual interest concerning his activities. Do not request his cooperation immediately but merely attempt to have him discuss his own background, affiliation and sympathies and, in the event he is receptive, still refrain from requesting his cooperation during the initial contact. It has been observed that in many cases more progress is made by confining discussion to the subject's own personal situation and, until a firm relationship has been established with the subject, the matter of cooperation is relegated to the background. In addition, subjects such as [redacted] know without being told the primary purpose of the contact is to enlist his cooperation and discussion along that line is not necessary in the first instance.

If this interview is not conducted within 45 days, follow instructions contained in Section 87 D (7) (e) XII, Manual of Instructions.

[REDACTED] was very cordial and greeted the agent in a friendly manner. He immediately inquired as to the agent's identity and the reason for the contact and, after advising that it was in the nature of a confidential inquiry, he listened and stated that he was not interested in discussing anything with the interviewing agent. He stated that as far as he was concerned, nothing could be gained from a discussion of his activities. He stated that he had no appointment and that he had no time to indulge in conversation and then proceeded on to his place of employment.

[REDACTED] was asked to give further consideration to the matter and if he could, to call the agent back on the matter over, he might wish to talk with the agent on another occasion. He did not agree to any appointments at another time, however, he did not state that he was opposed to such an arrangement. He remained very cordial and polite throughout the interview and did not exhibit any signs of antagonism but stated several times, "I am not interested."

Your attention is directed to Bulet dated 12-14-60, to Baltimore and all Toplev offices, setting forth certain suggestions to be considered in preparing for Toplev interviews. Before making your approach to the subject, carefully analyze her background and consider utilizing one or more of the suggestions in Bulet of 12-14-60 in making your contact with her. In addition, consider approaching [redacted] on the basis that you desire to discuss a matter of mutual interest concerning her activities. Do not request her cooperation immediately but merely attempt to have her discuss her own background, affiliation and sympathies and, in the event she is receptive, still refrain from requesting her cooperation during the initial contact. It has been observed that in many cases more progress is made by confining discussion to the subject's own personal situation and, until a firm relationship has been established with the subject, the matter of cooperation is relegated to the background. In addition, subjects such as [redacted] know without being told the primary purpose of the contact is to enlist her cooperation and discussion along that line is not necessary in the first instance.

nature and a disclosure of their relationship to the FBI or the United States Government at this time could prejudice these ultimate objectives.

The following comments and observations are those of SAs [redacted] and WALLEY gathered during their interviews of [redacted] on 11/11 and 26/62. They are the opinions of the interviewing Agents and are submitted for the information of the Bureau:

b6
b7C
b7D

[redacted] was a more willing interviewee than [redacted]. For example, when first contacted, telephonically, [redacted] although surprised at a contact by the FBI, and unwilling to discuss his past, or "name names", and concerned that perhaps his letter to the President had been "misconstrued", was quite willing, once apprised of the background and reasons for his contact, to meet with the Special Agents of the FBI.

[redacted] on the other hand, in addition to being obviously annoyed at a contact by the FBI "after writing to the President of the United States", was reluctant at first to meet with the FBI.

b7C
b7D

However, both individuals, when interviewed in person, were friendly and cordial individuals, but [redacted] once relaxed, was a more willing interviewee, more cooperative and more candid. [redacted] threw back, not very carefully not to state the name of subject matter at hand - that he felt he could do for the Government. [redacted] leaned heavily on WALLEY and appeared quite proud of [redacted] letter of acknowledgment from the White House.

[redacted]
Security Matter - C

On November 19, 1962, [redacted] was telephonically contacted at his office in [redacted]

[redacted] New York, by Special Agent [redacted] Special Agent (SA) [redacted] advised [redacted] that he was contacting him in response to the letter [redacted] [redacted] had sent to President Kennedy in which they, as [redacted] the Communist Party (CP)", and as "friends of a free and independent Cuba", had offered their services to the President of the United States. SA [redacted] advised that he had been requested by the Attorney General of the United States to contact [redacted] personally and determine from him in what way he felt he could be of service to the President and his country.

b6
b7C
b7D

[redacted] began his answer by stating that he hoped that "their" letter, mailed on "about [redacted]", had not been "misapprehended", that he was no more disposed now toward discussing his past activities and associations with the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) than he had ever been.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside

The following day, November 20, 1962, the interview with [redacted] was continued by SA [redacted] and SA James P. Halleron at a location on [redacted] near [redacted] place of employment.

The Special Agents carefully explained to [redacted] that their sole purpose in meeting with him was to convey to him the receptive mood in which his letter had been received by the President and his staff, to thank him for his offer of service, and, as representatives of, and as requested by the Attorney General of the United States, ask him personally in just what specific way, or in what area of endeavor, he sought to be of service to his country and his President.

b7D

[redacted] began his answer by stating that the previous day, November 19, 1962, he had conferred with [redacted] who had told him that he had been interviewed by Special Agents of the FBI concerning their letter to the President.

[redacted] stated that his reasons for sending the letter were substantially the same as those of [redacted] and that his offer of services was along similar lines.

[redacted] explained that a few minutes after President Kennedy's October 23, 1962, speech hinting at the possibility of a national emergency, [redacted] contacted him and made known to him his feeling that in a time of crisis, like that then in existence, former CP [redacted] who, like [redacted] were fully in accord with President Kennedy's strong position on Cuba, should make known their positions and, in addition, offer their services to the Government. [redacted] proposed that he and [redacted] write to President Kennedy, offer their services, and place themselves behind the President's strong stand for a Cuba "free and independent of Soviet Russia."

Security Matter - C

In the "day or two" between [ ] call of October 23, 1962, and the day they signed and mailed their letter, [ ] said that he and [ ] had informally contacted "friends", former Communists similarly situated politically to him and [ ] and found only a few of them in as strong a position behind the President as was he and [ ]

b7D

Continuing his explanation of the initiation of the letter, and beginning a description of what service he felt he could offer, [ ] stated that at the critical time when they wrote their letter, he felt that despite their "superannuated" ages, they might still be of some "modest" use in the armed forces, or, more in keeping with their ages, background, and experience as Communist Party journalists, they could be useful as writers or journalists in a military or propaganda effort.

Their letter to the President, [ ] stated, was acknowledged from the White House by Arthur Schlesinger - Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr., Special Assistant to the President and Harvard History Professor. [ ] stated that Mr. Schlesinger's letter said "something to the effect" that "their services 'could be utilized by the Government' in these critical times." [ ] explained, in initiating the idea of the letter had decided to send a copy to Mr. Schlesinger, whom [ ] knew. [ ] added that he was not acquainted with and had never met Mr. Schlesinger.

[ ] continued that now that the immediate military crisis has past, his services in the military was probably of not much merit. However, he added that although he was still available for use by the military; he felt that he could best serve the Government as a [ ]

When he had finished his general answer to the Attorney General's query as to how he sought to serve his country, [redacted] voluntarily made a few carefully guarded statements concerning his background, experience and political "posture".

[redacted] stated that it was difficult for him to specifically define his present political position. He stated that he was against Communism per se, adding that he felt that placing ones self to the "right" or "left" of something was meaningless since the words meant different things to different people in different places.

b7D

In further explanation of his political "posture," [redacted] stated that since the day when he "left" the CP with [redacted], he and [redacted] had "progressed" to their present political position along "surprisingly equal and similar lines." If there were any distinction between his position and that of [redacted] he "couldn't think of any."

[redacted] advised at the conclusion of the interview that he would remain available for recontact either by Special Agents of the FBI or other representatives of the United States Government.

Upon contact, subject responded to his name and stated "I have nothing to say to you." At this point, SA HALLERON appropriately introduced himself to the subject and advised him that perhaps he would be anxious to talk to a representative of the US Government. Subject, feigning ignorance, stated "I know nothing, leave me alone." Subject was advised of the untruthfulness of his statement in that if he reflected on his clandestine activities and associations with members of the CP, he would indeed have plenty to discuss if he so desired. Subject's only response was one of ignorance and that he had no idea of what the agent said. Repeated attempts to encourage subject into gainful conversation were unsuccessful. When it was apparent that subject would not discuss matters of interest to the FBI, the contact was terminated.

SECURITY MATTER - C

Reurlet 11/2/62.

Authority is granted to contact [redacted] whenever feasible in accordance with outstanding instructions relating to the Toplev Program.

Your attention is directed to Bulet dated 12/14/60, to Baltimore and all Toplev offices, setting forth certain suggestions to be considered in preparing for Toplev interviews. Before making your approach to the subject, carefully analyze his background and consider utilizing one or more of the suggestions in Bulet of 12/14/60 in making your contact with him. In addition, consider approaching [redacted] on the basis that you desire to discuss a matter of mutual interest concerning his activities. Do not request his cooperation immediately but merely attempt to have him discuss his own background, affiliation and sympathies and, in the event he is receptive, still refrain from requesting his cooperation during the initial contact. It has been observed that in many cases more progress is made by confining discussion to the subject's own personal situation and, until a firm relationship has been established with the subject, the matter of cooperation is relegated to the background. In addition, subjects such as [redacted] know without being told the primary purpose of the contact is to enlist his cooperation and discussion along that line is not necessary in the first instance.

If this interview is not conducted within 45 days, follow instructions contained in Section 87 D (7) (e) XII, Manual of Instructions.

Rebulet 11/15/61.

Subject former [redacted]
CP was selected for reinterview under the Toplev Program.

On 10/29/62, subject was observed in the vicinity of her residence, [redacted] by SAs JAMES P. HALBERG and [redacted]. Subject was directly approached by above named Agents and addressed by name. Subject readily admitted her identity and stated "I have no time for you. I do not want to talk to you." At this time Agents appropriately introduced themselves and advised that this contact was intended to be both confidential and friendly and requested a few minutes of her time. Subject responded in a stern voice "I do not want to talk to you--I have nothing to say, please leave me alone". At this point the subject turned and walked [redacted]. When it was apparent subject would not converse with the Agents, the contact was terminated.

In view of subject's stern refusal to enter into a conversation with contacting Agents, no further interviews are being considered with her at this time.

[REDACTED] was recontacted under provisions of the Toplev Program on 11/28/62 by SA WILLIAM C. MARTIN. The interview was conducted on [REDACTED] New York, and was observed from a discreet distance by SA PHILLIP H. BROOKS.

[REDACTED] greeted the interviewing Agent in a somewhat cordial manner and immediately attempted to fend off any questions or attempts at conversation by quickly stating, "I know who you are and what you want. I'm not interested in talking to you." Efforts were made to draw him into a conversation of a general nature but he refused to cooperate on that level. He would only state, "I know where to contact you if I want to speak to you." The interview was terminated when it was apparent that [REDACTED] did not intend to sway from his stand.

Although [REDACTED] appeared outwardly cordial in his manner, he impressed the interviewing Agent as being cynical and disdainful. He remained adamant in his refusal to enter into a conversation or discussion and refused to cooperate in any degree. No further contacts will be made with him at this time and the results of this interview will be incorporated in the next report prepared in this matter.

ReNYlet to the Bureau, 10/19/62.

On 11/14/62, SAS [REDACTED] and JAMES P. HALLERON were discreetly surveilling the approaches to the subject's place of employment, [REDACTED] when the subject appeared.

As the subject approached on foot, he recognized the Special Agents, hesitated in his progress, and warily smiled a greeting. This was in direct contrast to their last meeting, 10/9/62, during which the subject was aloof, unreachable and more like he was during the meeting of 9/18/62, at which time the subject gave considerable information concerning himself.

b7C
b7D

The Special Agents sensing that the subject had changed moods, asked if he cared to continue their discussion of 9/18/62. [REDACTED] though friendlier than during the 10/9/62 meeting, sought to excuse himself from further discussion by remarking that he was on his way to a nearby cafeteria to get a container of coffee and intended to go directly to his office from the cafeteria. The agents persuaded him to have his coffee with them.

[redacted]

Once seated in the cafeteria, the [redacted] the Special Agents went quickly to the controversial areas that [redacted] had skimmed over during the interview on 9/18/62. Proceeding carefully, the Special Agents questioned [redacted] specifically concerning his CP background and elicited the following answers:

b7D

[redacted] stated that he was unequivocally and unalterably opposed to Marxism, Leninism and any form of communism in any and all of its phases and presentations, both philosophically and practically.

[redacted] stated that he had hesitated to embrace even mild democratic socialism for fear that that particular shade of socialism would ultimately lead to communism. He stated, "I would have to know exactly who was running the (hypothetical) Socialist Party and why."

He stated that he was not "for" any particular political party, but did feel that the best form of government in the world today, judging from its obvious progress, was the US form of government, whatever you want to call it. He added, "Sure, it has its problems, but it's the best there is today."

During the 9/18/62 interview with [redacted] he asked that the Special Agents refrain from reinterviewing his wife, [redacted] because her health was poor and because she was adversely effected physically by such contacts. In view of this request, the Special Agents questioned [redacted] concerning his wife's philosophical and political opinions.

[redacted] stated that like himself, his wife, [redacted] was completely opposed to communism, Marxism and Leninism and completely inactive as regards politics.

b7D

It should be noted here that during interviews with [redacted] in April and May, 1962, she stated that she was "amoral" politically and opposed to the Communist Party in "...this country." She would not answer a question as to whether or not she was merely distinguishing, and although opposed to the Communist Party in the US, might nevertheless be in favor of communism generally.

[redacted]

[redacted] in his statements above concerning his wife's position had, intentionally or unintentionally, resolved the possible distinction she had made as regards her political alignment.

b7D

[redacted] firmly refused to discuss specific dates, events, names or personalities concerning his past Communist Party activities and affiliations. It was pointed out to him that in his statements on 9/18/62, he had in effect placed himself in the Communist Party between the late 1930's and the late 1950's. He still refused to get specific stating, "I will never discuss my past life in that fashion with you or anyone else."

[redacted] has stated that he is completely inactive politically remarking that he "Won't even join the P.T.A." He stated that he was only interested in stabilizing his own life, his wife's life and those of his children.

It was pointed out to [redacted] that in order to properly "turn over a new leaf" and "stabilize" his family, he should sit down and fully disclose and discuss his past activities -- complete the story for the FBI. He refused.

As in the past, he sought to stress that he had "done nothing wrong." The Special Agents disagreed of course.

b7D

It was pointed out to [redacted] that he could be of tremendous help to the FBI and his country if he would cooperate with them and fully disclose his past activities. It was stressed that the FBI did not want to make him an "informant," but rather sought his aid and cooperation in preventing youths from prejudicing their own futures and having to turn back and begin life again as [redacted] was now doing. [redacted] appeared to seriously consider that prospect, but again refused to discuss his past any more than he had already adding, "If they (youths) ask me, he'll tell them."

EVALUATION

[redacted] is cautious. He is also emotional in his exposition, and apparently sincere. During this latest interview, he has given more information concerning his own political posture, past and present, and that of his spouse.

b7D

It was pointed out to [REDACTED] that in view of the fact that he is endeavoring to begin life anew, "stabilizing" his life, that he should complete the old page before beginning a new one.

He will be interviewed again within the next 30 days during which it will be further stressed that before he is too far into this "new" life that he has began, he should first complete that last chapter of his old life and fully cooperate with the FBI.

Your attention is directed to Dulet dated 12/14/60, to Baltimore and all TOPLEV offices, setting forth certain suggestions to be considered in preparing for TOPLEV interviews. Before making your approach to the subject, carefully analyze his background and consider utilizing one or more of the suggestions in Dulet of 12/14/60 in making your contact with him. In addition, consider approaching [redacted] on the basis that you desire to discuss a matter of mutual interest concerning his activities. Do not request his cooperation immediately but merely attempt to have him discuss his own background, affiliation and sympathies and, in the event he is receptive, still refrain from requesting his cooperation during the initial contact. It has been observed that in many cases more progress is made by confining discussion to the subject's own personal situation and, until a firm relationship has been established with the subject, the matter of cooperation is relegated to the background. In addition, subjects such as [redacted] know without being told the primary purpose of the contact is to enlist his cooperation and discussion along that line is not necessary in the first instance.
